Henk Visch (b.1950, Eindhoven, NL), lives and works in Eindhoven. He was trained as a graphic artist at the Royal Academy of Art and Design in 's-Hertogenbosch. Visch made his international breakthrough in the 1980s and represented the Netherlands at the Venice Biennale in 1988. He was a lecturer at the Academies in Amsterdam and Maastricht, a professor in Stuttgart and Münster and a guest lecturer in Beijing. His work has been widely exhibited at, among others, the Tate Modern in the UK, Palazzo Grassi in Italy and the Van Abbe Museum and Stedelijk Museum Amsterdam in the Netherlands. In 2023, Visch was the winner of the 13th Wilhelminaring, the Dutch oeuvre prize for sculptors.
